Dear friends and neighbors,

It’s hard to believe that we are in the second decade of the new century. We are certainly looking ahead to a great 2011.

At the planning session for the Community Foundation, the leadership team elected to shift from a reactive grantmaking organization to a focus driven organization using a Healthy Community framework (see page 4).

Each element affects all the others, as well as the entire community. To foster a sense of community, philanthropy becomes more than minimizing problems but helping the “needy.”

Using the Healthy Community framework, donors can help all residents improve their lives. They look at the bigger picture. They see how issues overlap.

Economy was selected as the priority element for the next three years - 40% of grants generated through community-wide grantmaking fund will be invested to assist the efforts of those who are so diligently working on job and business creation in addition to retention and growth of our existing businesses. We believe that great philanthropy is a process that unites monetary support with people who are committed to leaving the world better than they found it.

We wish to express our great appreciation to the members of our community. It is your generosity and your desire to pay it forward that enable us to fulfill our mission. We are fortunate to be surrounded by so many people who care. Together, we are leading the way to a better future for Barry County.

Sincerely,
Bonnie Floodreth, President/CEO and
Jim Tosozen, Board Chair

Mission
The Barry Community Foundation will serve as a leader, catalyst and resource to improve the lives of people in the Barry County area by promoting charitable giving and the creation of permanently endowed funds, now and for future generations.

Donor Bill of Rights
Developed by: American Association of Fund-Raising Council (AAFRC), Association for Healthcare Philanthropy (AAPH), Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE), National Society of Fund Raising Executives (NFSRE).

Phileanthropy is based on voluntary action for the common good. It is a tradition of giving and sharing that is primary to the quality of life. To assure that philanthropy merits the respect and trust of the general public, and that donors and prospective donors can have full confidence in the not-for-profit organizations and causes they are asked to support, we declare that all donors have these rights:

• To be informed of the organization’s mission, of the way the organization intends to use donated resources, and of its capacity to use donations effectively for their intended purposes.
• To be informed of the identity of those serving on the organization’s governing board, and to expect the board to exercise prudent judgment in its stewardship responsibilities.
• To have access to the organization’s most recent financial statements.
• To be assured their gifts will be used for the purposes for which they were given.
• To receive appropriate acknowledgment and recognition.
• To be assured that information about their donations is handled with respect and with confidentiality to the extent provided by the law.
• To have access to the organization’s most recent financial statements.
• To be assured their gifts will be used for the purposes for which they were given.
• To receive appropriate acknowledgment and recognition.
• To be assured that information about their donations is handled with respect and with confidentiality to the extent provided by the law.
• To have access to the organization’s most recent financial statements.
• To be assured their gifts will be used for the purposes for which they were given.
• To receive appropriate acknowledgment and recognition.
• To be assured that information about their donations is handled with respect and with confidentiality to the extent provided by the law.
The Story of a Community Foundation in Michigan
Excerpts of an article by
Amy Lake, Community Policy Analyst Center
University of Missouri-Columbia

The story of the Barry Community Foundation, based in Hastings, Michigan, reads like a “How To Do It Right Guide” for Community Development Philanthropy. Bonnie Hildreth has been the Executive Director for the Foundation since it was formed in 1995. ...

... The Barry Community Foundation is one of 65 community foundations in Michigan. Michigan is considered a national leader in community philanthropy, providing residents of every county in the state with access to a community foundation. Community foundations are a fast growing community development strategy for rural America. Through community foundations, communities can create funds to support local initiatives from economic development to the arts to college scholarships and everything in between. At the same time, community foundations provide people with a way to support their own communities through charitable giving and ensure that communities have a reliable internally generated asset to draw upon. “Community foundations in Michigan are very flexible,” says Ms. Hildreth. The Barry Community Foundation is able to accommodate donors’ needs, so that they can give in a way that is comfortable for them and in a way that supports exactly what they value in their community. The Barry Community Foundation currently has endowed funds for activities as diverse as a free community clinic, farmland preservation, healthy youth and seniors, education, an arts council, and a memorial park bench program. ...

... “In a small community, we take pride in the fact that we don’t wait for others to fix our problems, we do it ourselves,” says Ms. Hildreth. “If I know if something happens to me tomorrow, the community would rally. That’s what we do.” This philosophy shines through the works of the Foundation, even from the first charitable grant made in 1995. The Foundation donated $50,000 to Delton, Michigan that year to build a library. Delton had kept a capital campaign for a new library alive for 17 years, raising nearly all the funds it needed through private donations. That day finally came thanks to the final donation by the Barry Community Foundation. And, still Delton used its own building trades program from the local schools to erect the library, not asking others for what they could do themselves, ...

... The motto for the Barry Community Foundation reads, “Barry Community Foundation. For Good. For Barry County. Forever.” Forever is a long time. But, the way Ms. Hildreth tells the story, it’s not hard to believe that the Barry Community Foundation is going to make it. Forever.

Community Foundation Philanthropy Award
Dick Gross
2010 Recipient
Governor’s Service Awards
June 21, 2010

Dick Gross is a motivator, collaborator, and mentor who not only believes in servant leadership, he lives and breathes it.

A philanthropist in every sense of the word, Dick’s giving has impacted Barry County and countless other organizations in Michigan and beyond. With a family legacy of entrepreneurship that dates back to 1881, Dick realized the opportunity offered by creation of a community foundation and served as Founder Chairman of the Barry Community Foundation in 1996.

Dick’s contributions to community philanthropy include:
- creation of a challenge match to set up the 400 Club and take advantage of the state’s community foundation tax credit;
- a special project fund to assist with a new library; and
- an endowment fund to help the Barry County United Way with its administrative costs; a fund to help the Thornapple Arts Council deal with the challenges of the economy; and a donor advised fund. Dick has quietly inspired others to think creatively about responding to community needs and turning opportunities into reality. His vision has allowed the Barry Community Foundation to secure its place as a community bridge builder, supporting its vision to be a “trusted resource for positive change.”

Community Foundation Philanthropy Award

This award honors an individual or couple for service as both a volunteer trustee and donor to one or more community foundations to help grow community philanthropy. Established in 2006 by the Council of Michigan Foundations, this award recognizes the thousands of volunteers who have engaged in building community philanthropy and, thereby, stronger communities throughout Michigan. Michigan is fortunate to have 54 community foundations and more than 30 geographic affiliate funds covering all 83 counties with annual grantmaking exceeding $125 million. This growth in community philanthropy has been aided by a permanent state tax credit - the first in the nation - for gifts to endowment funds held by community foundations.

Stepping Forward Toward Priority Grantmaking

The Barry Community Foundation has always recommended allocations of available resources to address significant needs in Barry County. Since inception, the Foundation has awarded grants throughout Barry County for a wide variety of programs and projects that positively impact the lives of Barry County residents.

The landscape of Barry County has been forever changed over the past 15 years, due to the projects that have been invested in through the Barry Community Foundation. The first grant that was approved by the Barry Community Foundation Board of Directors was in 1995 for the Delton District Library. The building project began with a group of library patrons who wanted to build a barrier-free, economical building that would be easy to maintain and centrally located between the townships. It was a long-standing project that BCF was able to help come to a conclusion by granting the last $30,000 that was needed. The library groundbreaking was in June, 1996 and the Delton District Library stands as a pillar in the Delton community today.

The Foundation is dedicated to furthering its mission by ensuring that the returns on grant investments positively impact the community for years to come. As part of their commitment, the Grant Committee and the BCF Board of Directors have decided to engage in priority grantmaking. Community investment priorities have been identified, through a donor survey and Board development, so that resources can be allocated to areas of pressing need. The investment priorities that were selected as primary elements of a healthy community are: access to arts and culture, basic needs of residents, ensuring a vibrant and diversified economy, creating quality education and learning opportunities for all ages, preserving and good stewardship of the local natural environment, promoting health and wellness among our residents, and fostering strong connected neighborhoods and communities.

The Barry Community Foundation looks forward to continuing to touch the lives of Barry County residents through area agencies and programs.

HONORARIUM
A great way to honor a friend or a loved one is to give back to the community in their name. With an honorary contribution, you can celebrate a birthday or anniversary, acknowledge work well done, make a Christmas gift or just let someone know how much you appreciate them. The Community Foundation will send a card to notify the recipient of the charitable donation made in their honor.

MEMORIALS
A gift made in the memory of a loved one is a special way to commemorate and honor their lives. The following individuals were recognized through thoughtful gifts to the Barry Community Foundation July 1, 2009 – June 30, 2010.

As a result of a challenge from Governor Jennifer Granholm to double the number of college graduates in Michigan by 2025, the Michigan College Access Network (MCAN) program was instituted to ensure that everyone in Michigan has the opportunity to access and succeed in postsecondary education. The Michigan College Access Network's mission is to dramatically increase the college participation and completion rate in Michigan, particularly among low income and/or first generation college students of all ages. MCAN plays an instrumental role in the college access strategy by identifying gaps in service and coordinating college access resources.

With a $1 million multi-part grant awarded from the Kresge Foundation, MCAN is offering a set of grants to build up and support local college access programs to further their mission of making college more attainable for Michigan youth. This series of grant opportunities offers funds for planning, implementing, and sustaining a local program, with additional grant dollars available through a special community foundation challenge grant.

This past August, the Youth Pillar of Barry County's HomeTown Partnership, along with a planning committee comprised of widespread community representation, received funding from MCAN to begin the planning of a Barry County College Access Network. The committee's vision of a local college access network, aligning with the mission of MCAN, is to provide area youth with invaluable resources and opportunities by opening doors to post-secondary education. As a member of MCAN, the Barry County program can anticipate receiving services which include professional development, technical assistance, program support and funding opportunities from other sources. The Barry County College Access Network will consist of a virtual network as well as a staffed liaison position that will work with the youth throughout the county. Some of the services offered through this initiative include post-secondary education admission/selection advising, financial aid advising, scholarship and grant opportunities, early awareness programs and college site visits. With the availability of up to $100,000 in additional funding for this program, the committee is forming their implementation plan to ensure that this local college access program provides comprehensive opportunities for the youth of Barry County.

Mission:

The Barry Community Foundation will serve as a leader, catalyst and resource to improve the lives of people in the Barry County area by promoting charitable giving and the creation of permanently endowed funds, now and for future generations.

The Emeritus Board of the Barry Community Foundation, joined by the current Executive Committee, met on Wednesday, March 24, 2010 at the County Seat Restaurant in Hastings. Emeritus Board members are individuals who have retired from the Board after serving a total of nine consecutive years.
